

SORTING YOUR THEMES

The key to your clients' personal development is to fully understand how to apply their greatest talents and strengths in their everyday lives. This activity will help them start to think intentionally about how they can and do leverage their talents each day. It also helps them affirm the value of their unique talents.

To begin the activity, ask your client to imagine a desk with drawers on either side, a desk lamp on the corner, and a trash can to the left. Have your client start at the top of the Theme Sequence Report (All 34) and relate how he or she uses each theme at work or to get things done. Is this a theme your client shines a light on or one that he or she files in a drawer to find quickly when needed? Is this a theme your client always keeps on top of the desk or one he or she discards in the trash can?

Using the picture below, write where your client would place all of his or her 34 themes if it were possible to take them out of the report and put them on a desk.
